OhioCampers

Celebrating 40 Years!

In celebration of our 40th anniversary, see the enhanced interactive version of our 30th Anniversary story! ohiocampers.com

Welcome to the 40th anniversary issue of Ohio Campers. Much has changed in the camping world since the Ohio Campground Owners Association began publishing this campground and travel guide four decades ago. While camping can still be as primitive as one wants to make it, with modern technology it is no longer a necessity.

At one time, camping had a reputation as being a not-so-easy thing to do. But all that has changed, beginning with the planning process where campers enjoy a wealth of online resources to research their next trip. Even the most basic equipment has improved immensely. Tents are lighter and easier to assemble. Everything from coolers and cooking equipment, to bedrolls and lanterns are more advanced and make the camping experience more pleasurable.

Perhaps the biggest advancement in camping has been the development of recreational vehicles, along with the help of campgrounds for developing modern electrical, water, and sewer systems. Today's RVs are technological marvels – virtually luxury homes on wheels. Many have complete kitchens, air-conditioning, and, perhaps most appreciated, modern bathrooms. No more late night trips to a dark and cold outhouse!

It wasn't long ago when campers were cut off from the outside world, going days at a time with no contact with friends, family, or their workplace. But thanks to cable, satellites, and Wi-Fi, campers today can stay fully connected

will always be whatever the camper wants it to be. Whether you're looking for a quiet and relaxing getaway...

with television, Internet, and smartphones right from their campsite.

Utilities and digital electronics are just part of major upgrades we've seen in the campground industry over the years. There was a time when a campground wasn't much more than an empty field, and campers were lucky to have a fire ring, picnic table, and a level spot for a tent. Today's campers can enjoy neatly manicured grounds and paved driveways.

But much more exciting, today's campgrounds have evolved into modern recreational parks. Athletic fields, playgrounds, hiking trails, gem mines, swimming pools, and beaches with waterslides are becoming commonplace. Campers may find on-site restaurants, live entertainment, and organized activities and daytrips. There's seldom a shortage of things to do.

While camping has evolved greatly in the 40 years since the first Ohio Campers, one thing hasn't changed. Camping will always be whatever the camper wants it to be. Whether you're looking for a quiet and relaxing getaway, or an exciting action-packed adventure, you'll find it at an OCOA campground near you.

Revisit History at the RV Hall of Fame

THE history of RV travel is on display at the Recreational Vehicle/
Manufactured Home Hall of Fame, located a short drive away in Elkhart, Indiana. This 100,000 square foot museum educates and entertains visitors with historical RVs and artifacts from all the top names in the industry.

RVs dating back 100 years are on display, including a 1913 Earl Travel Trailer – the oldest known to still exist. You'll see everything from the oldest Winnebago to the smallest Airstream ever built. Follow a timeline of key events in RV development, such as the introduction of the first microwave oven and indoor toilet.

The RV Founders Hall is set up like a real RV park, complete with driveways and trees. Take a trip back in time among the trailers, photos, and memorabilia that show technological advancements from pre-World War I to the present. A tour highlight is the 1931 Chevrolet Housecar that was given to Mae West by Paramount Studios.

Learn about the 347 industry leaders and pioneers who have been inducted into the Hall of Fame since the RV/MH Heritage Foundation was formed in 1972. Also visit the RV/MH Library, which houses thousands of volumes of historical records, photos, and periodicals dedicated entirely to archiving the history of recreational vehicles and manufactured homes. For more information about the museum and facilities, visit www.rvmhhalloffame.org.

SOUTHWEST Attractions

The Little Miami River flows 111 miles through Southwest Ohio before dumping into the Ohio River near Cincinnati. Designated as a National Wild and Scenic River, the Little Miami is rich in Native American history along with modern day recreation.

A series of bike trails built on abandoned rail lines that run along the river are a magnet for cycling enthusiasts.

The Little Miami Scenic Trail and the Buckeye Trail are the most popular. Anglers enjoy some of the best smallmouth bass fishing in the state, and bird watchers flock to the river to observe its wide variety of species.

Float the river on a canoe or kayak at Little Miami Canoe Rental or Morgan's Ft. Ancient Canoe Livery. Visit Ft. Ancient State Memorial Park to observe prehistoric burial mounds. Don't miss the Clifton Mill, one of the most picturesque attractions on the Little Miami.

Founded in 1803, The Golden Lamb Restaurant in Lebanon is Ohio's oldest continuously operated business. The Golden Lamb's reputation reaches back to the pioneers who stopped there while traveling by stagecoach between Cincinnati and the National Road in the early 1800s. Today it's widely recognized as one of the state's finest eating establishments.

The restaurant features several themed dining rooms, such as the Dickens Room – named for novelist Charles Dickens. Diners enjoy a variety of fare from seafood and steaks, to salads and gourmet burgers, while relaxing amid antiques and old portraits. The restaurant also features live entertainment in the Black Horse Tavern, which also offers dining and cocktails. For more information, visit www.goldenlamb.com

Founded in 1873, the Cincinnati Zoo & Botanical Gardens is the second oldest zoo in the United States. With over 500 animals and 3,000 plant species, the Cincinnati Zoo's reputation for conservation and preservation of wildlife has earned it a reputation as one of the best zoos in the nation.

Over 1.2 million visitors annually enjoy the many exhibits, from Gorilla World and Elephant Reserve, to Jungle Trails and Wildlife Canyon. Jump aboard the Safari Train for a relaxing trip around the zoo grounds, and hop upon the Conservation Carousel for a truly unique merry-go-round ride. See the incredible plant collections in the Botanical Garden, where you'll find a magnificent tulip display, oriental and rain gardens, and an array of endangered species.

Experience the zoo's amazing 4-D Theater, where the high definition 3-D projection includes sensory effects such as wind, mist, scents, and more! Learn more about the park at www.cincinnati-zoo.org.

Go to www.DiscoverOhio.com for a complete list of Ohio attractions and special events.

Other Southwest Attractions include...

Kings Island Amusement Park is a perennial favorite with an array of thrill rides from the classic The Beast to the new Banshee, and don't forget Planet Snoopy for the youngsters as well.

Treat your family to 35 acres of tropical island fun at The Beach in Cincinnati, featuring white sandy beaches, a wave pool, waterslides, an arcade, music, cabanas and much more.

Glide among the treetops on the largest zip line canopy tour in the Midwest at Ozone Zipline Adventures in Oregonia, where participants fly 200 feet in the air over the Little Miami River.

Major attractions in the Southwest are The National Museum of the United States Air Force, the Horseshoe Casino, and the KitchenAid Experience.

OCOA Member Campground Earns USA Today Honor

Austin Lake Park, in Toronto, Ohio, made USA Today's list of 10 Best Urban Campgrounds for 2014. The list notes campgrounds that are within a short distance of major cities, and cited Austin Lake for its proximity to Pittsburgh. The article explains that travelers can often find a peaceful campground nearby, as opposed to staying in a hotel, and still take in big-city attractions.

Jennifer Schwartz of GoCampingAmerica.com shared that Austin Lake offers, "a great family experience with tons of family activities, boating, fishing, and swimming." The 70-year old campground sits on 1,300 acres in the Appalachian foothills. Congratulations to Austin Lake Park for this national acclaim.
